

Deep within the confines of a local library a group of 8-9 year-old children have quietly taken over. They have made their way into the filing cabinets, crawled through the bookshelves and clambered into the light fittings. Tiny video screens, TV monitors and video projectors reveal a collection of whispered poems and miniature dances. Apart from the Road Hammersmith evokes a sense of transient urban schooldays whilst delicately capturing momentary portraits of each child.

... a highly crafted and compelling piece of art. Animated 2001
